

For the better part of twenty years TBA Architects, Inc. has worked with local developers who have made a specialty out of the revival and conversion of large single family homes. The benefits of this work including community reinvestment, retaining neighborhood and historical fabric as well as green building are numerous. Four large homes in one small Brighton, MA block have been rehabilitated through our work with one developer alone.

We've provided a full range of services from existing conditions documentation for permitting and historical review to construction documentation and on-site observation and administration of construction.

Our work has run the gammet of architectural styles and building techniques giving a wide range of experience to draw from when dealing with existing fabric and its challenges of making viable contemporary living spaces while retaining the character of the original architecture.
